

International Council of Ethnodoxologists (ICE)

... a network for culturally appropriate Christian worship

Why does ICE provide forums?

- ICE is a growing "Community of Practice" whose vision has been in part to establish a common body of knowledge about ethnodoxology and to help one another apply that knowledge to the challenges we face in our work. You, as members, are "living repositories" of that knowledge. [1]
- When we share knowledge, we demonstrate that it doesn't belong to us as individuals; it's a public good belonging to our professional community. [2]
- To have a vital and healthy "Community of Practice" members must both give and take: [3]
 - Give: A willingness to share knowledge
 - Take: A willingness to use our community as a source of knowledge.
- A Challenge: After reading the FAQ below, try it out! Make at least one post to one of the groups below this month -- we'll all be richer for the interaction!

Who has access to ICE forums?

- Anyone with current ICE membership. If your membership lapses, we discontinue your forum memberships, assuming that you have moved on to other things 😊
- The only Google group that non-members can apply to receive is the Newsletter.
- All 200+ ICE members are subscribed to ICE-Announcements, Newsletter, and General Help.
- All other forums are optional; you can subscribe to them if you are a member.
- Why do we limit the forums to members only?
 - So that we protect ourselves from security risks.
 - So that you will know you are posting to like-minded people that you can trust

- Any member can post to the forums (even new members) without feeling intimidated, because all the forums are moderated. This means we check each post before approving it to go out to make sure it is on topic as well as appropriate for the audience and for that particular forum. We'll give you feedback as needed!

How to use the ICE Google Group forums:

1) If you wish to access the forum archives or to have an online "My Groups" page, you'll need to have a "Google Account" – (not the same as a Gmail address). You use the same email address that you used to sign up for Google groups (plus a password) to register. This account is free and fast to set up. To set one up:

- a) go to www.googlegroups.com and click in the upper right hand corner on "sign in"
- b) here you can either sign in or press "Create an account"
- c) follow the directions, being sure to use your preferred email for your forums
- d) when you are done, your "My Groups" page will automatically show the forums to which you are subscribed with that email. Note: A Google Account is not required for just receiving the forum emails.

2) Google treats each email address as a separate person – so if you are subscribed with one address, but try to "post" or access archives with another address, you will be denied access. This is what keeps our groups secure, so it's a good thing! If you wish to be able to post from more than one address, just subscribe to your groups with more than one address.

3) Google has no way of knowing when you change addresses – you'll need to unsubscribe with your old address and re-subscribe with the new address.

4) To subscribe to a forum, use the grey "forum box" on the home page www.worldofworship.org. If you need further assistance, write to in...@worldofworship.org with specific instructions and we'll help.
